

GRANDSTANDS TO BE FULLY OPEN

There will be no restrictions on the number of fans allowed to watch the action from the grandstands and hillside when NASCAR returns to Phoenix Raceway to crown four Series champions during NASCAR Championship Weekend, November 5-7, 2021.

This is the second consecutive year hosting four championship celebrations over three days, with events in the NASCAR Cup Series, NASCAR Xfinity Series, NASCAR Camping World Truck Series and ARCA Menards Series West.

“Our loyal and passionate fans have shown tremendous support for Phoenix Raceway and our entire sport throughout the pandemic, including the inaugural NASCAR Championship Weekend at our facility last November,” said Phoenix Raceway President Julie Giese. “We are ecstatic to have the opportunity to celebrate the crowning of four champions in front of a packed grandstand and to showcase to the world what this community of race fans in Arizona is all about.”

Fans will once again have the option to upgrade to the INfield Experience—an opportunity to experience NASCAR Championship Weekend with amazing access to the garage walkways, pre-race festivities, victory lane and post-race championship celebrations

Camping restrictions will also be lifted.

NASCAR and Phoenix Raceway will continue to work closely with local and state government and health officials throughout the year on any necessary health and safety protocols and adjustments to ensure a safe environment for fans, competitors, employees and the community, as their top priority for NASCAR Championship Weekend.
