The Fine Art Photography of Brenda Priddy

Chandler Center for the Arts
January 31 - March 8, 2014

Renowned secret spy photographer faces the spotlight

Many know Brenda Priddy as the anonymous person behind many of the photos we see of cladded and camouflaged test cars. Brenda usually stalks the local desert proving grounds, waiting for test cars and prototypes to exit, and then photographs them for magazines and websites around the world. But Ms Priddy will make a public appearance in late January, when an exhibit of her fine art photography debuts at the Chandler Center for the Arts.

While waiting for test cars to photograph on the public roadways, Ms Priddy is always looking for other subjects, and recently found them in places as diverse as junkyards and classic car concours: hood ornaments, nameplates and various details caught her eye. These have become the focus of this upcoming photography exhibit.

The exhibit, Automotive Artifacts, opens with an artist's reception from 5:30 to 7:30 pm on January 31 and runs through March 8, 2014. Normal gallery hours are 10am to 5pm, Monday through Friday, and noon to 5pm on Saturday. Admission is always free.
